The CCIB is the biggest congress centre in southern Europe and has become a reference site with its up to date technology and spectacular architecture, which is emblematic of the city.

The CCIB is located on the seafront and is open to natural light which gives it a unique appearance in the heart of Barcelona’s new Diagonal Mar quarter.

SYMBOL OF THE FUTURE AND VIVACITY

Barcelona, as the second largest city in Spain, behind Madrid, has considerable facilities and is the leading destination for business travellers.

The city is located at the heart of Catalonia, Spain’s main industrial region, where a dynamic economic presence is evident almost everywhere. Amongst the main sectors, it is renowned for motorcar manufacturers, electronics, chemicals, textiles, etc.

The 1992 Olympic Games strengthened this destination as a capable rival for the great European capitals thanks, in particular, to its excellent infrastructure and a decidedly modern network of equipment.

Barcelona has become a global destination reputed for its international congresses, corporate conventions and new product launches.

OPEN AIR MUSEUM

Barcelona is bordered by the sea and mountains; it is the symbol of a perfect balance between avant garde and tradition: Montjuic hill, the Olympic site, creates a charming mix with the narrow streets and alleys of Barri Gotic.

Barcelona never stops surprising its visitors with the great value of its architectural heritage that is impregnated with the impish spirit of Antoni Gaudi’s houses and his majestic Sagrada Familia.

Without forgetting the pleasure of strolling down the Ramblas, the pulsing artery that leads enchanted visitors from the Place de Catalogne to the port, where they are easily tempted by the pleasures of the Catalan cuisine.
